HedgingFX is a new fintech in the financial layout. We help asset managers, insurance companies and investment banks with their FX hedging calculations, using a fully automatized platform. While most offers include calculation and execution, we chose the unique approach to provide our clients only with computation allowing them to significantly decrease costs and increase efficiency.

We also partner up with a leading insurance company to provide you with an extra layer of security and cover any loss from up to 4 millions euros.

AM internal teams optimization

By only delegating computation for the share class hedging service

1. Asset Manager will eliminate the risk of being in reglementary breach while enhancing their internal resources
2. Investment bankers will reduce their costs and broaden their client base while increasing their flexibility
